Barracks Ballad

Oh-h-h-h,
Bring it on down to my house, Baby,
There aint nobody home but me;
Yea-h-h, bring it on down to my house, Baby,
I need com-pan-ee.
Now I got a girl and her name is Rose,
She looks best to me when she wears no clothes,
Oh-h-h-h,
Bring it on down to my house, Baby,
There aint nobody home but me.

- - - - - -

Now I gotta gal, an' her name is Kate,,
I missed my turn by gettin' there late,
Ftc.

- - - - - -

Now I got a gal, she's an ugly old maid,
But I get a good ride an' I even get paid,
Ftc.

- - - - - -

Now I've got a girl and her name is Jane,
When I'm sleeping with her "I feel no pain",
Ftc.
Etc.

Asfename

(Ass-fen-a-me.)

First there was a little scratch,

Asfename, Asfename.

Then there was a mucous patch,

Asfename, Asfename.

The spirochetes were numerous,

The Wasserman came back four-plus,

The verdict was unanimous,

Asfename had syphilis.

G.I. Song.

Sung to the music of "What A Friend We Have in Jesus".

When this bloody war is over,
Oh, how happy we will be.
They can have my pack and rifle,
But they never will find me.

No more Sunday working parties,
No more begging for a pass.
And we'll tell the Sergeant Major,
To go hiss his own dirty ass.

Soldiers' Song in Korea-Tune- Drinking "Rum and Coco-Cola."

Way up north is Young Tong Po
Shebee, Shebee, hava-no
Way down South in old Puson
Shebee, Shebee have Toxon.

Over in the Philipines,
Where they have those PomPom Queens;
The syph is bad, the clap is worse,
You bette jack off, for safety-first.
